AUSTRALASIAN PARLIAMENTS.

(BY TELEGRAPH.)
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENTS.)
VICTORIA.
MELBOURNE, WEDNESDAY.

In the Legislative Council this evening the Dimboola and Boort Railway Bill was passed through all its stages without amendment. The debate on the second reading of the Life Assurance Amendment Bill was continued and adjourned. The Council adjourned at 9.40 p.m.

It the Legislative Assembly this evening Mr.

Mr. Latryre, in reply to a question, said the Government had advanced $2000 to the Tucker village settlements, but exercised no supervision over them. Mr. Carter (the Treasurer) moved the second reading of the Land Sales by Auction Amending Bill. He pointed out that it was arranged originally that $1,084,750 should be spent on public works to be obtained from the sale of land. Only $127,418 had been received from that source, though $678,624 had been spent, leaving the difference to be found. The second reading was agreed to. A bill regulating the sale of oleomargarine was passed.

through its final stage. The Copyright Act of 1890 Amendment Bill was read the second time. The House adjourned at 11.20 p.m. till the following day.

QUEENSLAND.
BRISBANE, WEDNESDAY.

In the Assembly to-day, replying to a question, Sir Thomas M'Diarmid said Mr. Hume Black had been empowered, under direction of the Government, to enter into negotiations with syndicates in England for the construction of land grant railways. There had been a considerable amount of correspondence and it was probable that some of the lines, some it was not possible to make it public as they were in the time. The Victoria Bridge Bill and Co-operative Land Settlement Bill were read the third time and passed. Leave was given to introduce a bill to enable the Municipal Council of Brisbane to raise money for corporation purposes on debentures. The Minister for Lands moved the second reading of a bill to amend the Crown Lands Act. He traced the history and operations of the different Lands Acts in the colony since 1868, and referred to the Act of 1884 and the 10 million loan, the expectations of which had not been realised. The Act of 1884 was restricted from the beginning, and prohibited the proper use of capital, and placed burdens on men too grievous to be borne. Only lately the colony had recognised that it must cultivate profitable exports. The Act produced an annual revenue of £115,000, and the colony had a surplus of £115,000.

only 500,000 acres were under sugar cane. Referring to class 3 of the present bill dealing with grazing farms, he said that grazing farms had proved the wealthiest part of the 1864 Act. They looked up the best land for 30 years, and they were now in a position to improve the land, and was great difficulty regarding improvements and how to pay for them. Six million acres were held as grazing farms, and if it was possible to obtain, it would produce for 10 years £200,000,000 annually. No great difficulty could come about by inducing the lessees to purchase those farms. Referring to the question of improvements on selections, he said they were not too heavily on selections, and relief would be afforded, and probably made retrospective. Deal-

Mr. Barlow said he was acquainted with the Bill, and he thought the land might be bought or exchanged without any further sanction of Parliament. He explained the various other alterations proposed to be made in the Bill, and he said that he was not in favour of the proposed reduction of the size of the farms from 80 to 160 acres, an entirely local question. Referring to the reduction in the price of land under the Special Sales of Land Act from 10s. to 5s. he said that he was not in favour of the proposed public liability. The Government simply kept discretionary power to sell land at 5s. if necessary. Every shilling derived from the sale of land was ear-marked to pay our debts. He said that in 1891 the Government had sold 100,000 acres of land, and that the Treasury bills were paid, and those powers were exhausted.

Mr. Pownall said that Mr. Barlow had not been in the House long, and that he was not so well acquainted with the Bill, and he proceeded to explain it, and he proceeded to strongly oppose it in various provisions. He said that if grazing farmers were to become freehold, those lands would have to be bought so far as settlement was concerned. If there

Mr. Hoolan, leader of the labour party, was simply cheap-jacking the land of the colony, and setting in a revolution and indiscriminate plunder. The Government were letting off a very big gun, and it would be a long time before the people would get out of their excitement. He had the impression that there was a collision between the Government and moneyed parties in the matter. He detailed a list of banks and mortgages comprising holding pastoral areas in the colony.

and that it is appalling that 870 farms were lost in the process. The measure is a very bad one. A number of other members followed, and the debate was adjourned.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.
ADELAIDE, WEDNESDAY.

In the Legislative Council this afternoon Dr. Macgregor moved the second reading of the bill providing for the granting of licences to registered publishers' licences. The debate was adjourned for a week.

In the Assembly Mr. Solomon moved that immediate steps be taken to arrange for a conference of representatives of Governments of the Australian colonies, Tasmania, and New Zealand, for the purpose of considering the best means of securing the most efficient and economical production of goods and manufactures of colonial products and manufactures. He said the difficulties of bringing about a larger federation were so great that it would be wise to attempt premiere and manufacturers. According to the Premier's interjections the obstacle was that New South Wales was not likely to co-operate in any movement of this kind. The debate was adjourned till Friday morning.

Mr. Griffin introduced in the Assembly today a bill to amend the Chinese Immigration Restriction Act of 1888. Clause 1 applies the provisions of the Act to the whole of Australia. Clause 2 repeals the subsection exempting the crew from the Act, and clause 3 gives the Governor power to declare exemptions to apply to the sailors of any country. Although the measure is not a law it is not wanting in the drastic element.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

PERTH, Wednesday.

The Legislative Council, by a majority of eight to six, has inserted an amendment in the Constitution Amendment Bill reducing the electorate by amalgamating Perth and Fremantle. The House thus reduced the number of members from 21, as proposed by the Government, to 18. C. J. W. Hackett and Mr. S. H. Parker, Q.C. (Colonial Secretary), were the only members of the House who opposed the amendment. The House adjourned in order that Mr. Parker might consult his Ministerial colleagues. This amendment is the first of a number which a caucus of members of a section of the Council pledged itself to support.

NEW ZEALAND.
WELLINGTON, WEDNESDAY.

The Upper House has passed the interpretation clause of the Electoral Bill. It includes women as electors. It is the first victory in the Legislative Council for the women's cause. It may be reversed before the bill gets through committee. The voting was only 20 to 18.

The provisions for giving electoral rights to the Maori are not yet settled.

embodying the household qualification was rejected by 17 to 14.

RECEPTION TO CORPORALS GOLLAN AND COLE.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

WEST MAITLAND, WEDNESDAY.

An enthusiastic reception was given to Corporals Gollan and Cole, of the D Troop of Cavalry Regiment, upon their return from their recent trip to England with the New South Wales team. They were met at the railway station by the officers and men of D Troop, and escorted by the recruiting band. They proceeded to Bowcock's Hotel, where they were entertained. Captain Cranwell, occupied the chair. Captain Nolan and officers of the B Company, 4th Regiment, were present, and Mr. J. Gillies, M.I.A., and the leading townsman were in attendance. The whole reception was enthusiastic to the extreme. A very enjoyable evening was spent, and considerable interest was taken in the remarks made by Corporal Cole in the treatment they received while in England.
